Nottinghamshire Healthcare NHS Trust
Tuesday 22nd November 2011

Nottinghamshire Healthcare is positive about providing integrated healthcare services, including mental health, learning disability and community health services.

Over 8,300 dedicated staff provide these services in a variety of settings, ranging from the community through to acute wards, as well as secure settings. The Trust has a revenue income of £397 million for the present year.

The Trust manages two medium secure units, Arnold Lodge in Leicester and Wathwood Hospital in Rotherham, and the high secure Rampton Hospital near Retford. It also provides healthcare in 12 prisons across the East Midlands and Yorkshire.

We will continually improve our services and our patient, service user and carer experience, as well as reducing the stigma associated with mental illness and learning disability. In conjunction with primary care and the County Health Partnership we will improve services for people across the County of Nottinghamshire.

We are committed to being recognised as the leading national integrated healthcare provider – nationally important, locally relevant and personally valued.

Nottinghamshire Healthcare takes its responsibilities as an employer very seriously and is committed to equality and diversity. The Trust was recently placed 13th in the country as a good place to work in the Health Service Journal/Nursing Times staff survey.
